Mission-critical applications need to be flexible enough to continuously evolve as the business does. A modernization strategy married to an innovative application development platform is what competitive companies rely on to gain that edge. But escaping from the burden of legacy technology, or even just determining when best to pivot, can weigh organizations down to a screeching halt. Progress Services is a dynamic team of experts that can help you create your application modernization strategy, optimize existing technology and help you to develop unique OpenEdge skills and talent for the future, so your business continues to innovate, evolve and thrive.

| 1:30 pm – 2:00 pm | Final Q&A and Closing Remarks |
